

Call for Applications 2021/2022 MERIT Scholar Research Pilot Grant

The McMaster Education Research, Innovation & Theory (MERIT) program invites applications for the 2020/2021 MERIT Scholar Research Pilot Grant.

This funding supports health professions education pilot projects (innovation or research).

One grant of $4,000 is available.

Please note: this grant is offered on an annual basis pending funding availability and the quality of the proposals.

Application Criteria

- Only MERIT scholars are eligible to apply
- The grant cannot be used to supplement another partially funded project
- The project must focus on a question or problem relevant to health professions education
- The successful grant proposal must be presented at the Norman Education Research Day as a work in progress or completed study.

Application Details

- Completed Cover Page (see page 2)
- Grant Application (no more than three pages)
 - Rationale/Objective(s)
 - Method
 - Analysis (including the evaluation strategy for an innovation)
 - Potential impact of the project
 - Budget

Adjudication

Applications will be evaluated based on the following criteria:

1. Methodology / design
2. Educational impact

The completed application should be submitted to merit@mcmaster.ca as a single .pdf file and should be labelled as follows:

<applicant's last name>_2021ScholarResearchFund

Deadline for applications is October 12, 2021.

Cover Page

Investigators

Principle Investigator:

Primary E-mail contact:

Co-Investigator(s), Role and Department:

Project Details

Title: